

Rafael Henriques

I am a 24 year-old Computer Science and Engineering student seeking to develop more professional experience. With a proactive learning attitude, I can adapt to distinct workplace situations that involve problem-solving, while being a sympathetic and easy-going colleague. I am a very detail-oriented person and like to be committed to any project I take part in.

2022 - 2023

FLOVERS | LISBON

○ Freelance Web Developer

Designed and developed the website for the portuguese food brand Flovers. From the prototyping phase in Figma and UI/UX design to the deployment on the host domain, my work included coding (html, css and javascript), illustration, graphic design and the integration of various back-end services. Conducted meetings and catered the website to the personalized needs of the client. Produced design elements for the brand itself, and connected its visual identity between platforms.
